

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A cosmetics case for storing cosmetics in a powder state such as foundation product ensuring convenient and stable use thereof, which includes a receptacle shaped body formed with thresholds and a cover having hook grooves corresponding to the thresholds for connecting to the body, both the thresholds and the hook grooves being engageable together and separatable from each to allow the cover to be easily and conveniently opened and closed. In addition, the cosmetic case has a cosmetic aid fixed and integrated to the bottom portion of the cover, whereby the user can open the cover and hold a knob of the cover while at the same time conveniently applying make-up to the face.